Charles Dickens in America

BRITISH VIEW OF THE INCIDENTS AND EFFECTS OF MR. DICKENS' VISIT TO THE UNITED STATES.

[From the London Times [illegible].]

Among the popular beliefs which were almost established concerning the American character there is one which is not destined to survive much longer. We have been told so often that it is an insult to criticise the Americans in any feature of their social or political life, on account of the deep and lasting resentment which is provoked in their minds, that people were disposed to pay a certain homage to a sentiment which was taken to represent a national characteristic. In these days, however, nothing which stands prominently before the world escapes discussion and very often misrepresentation. If remarks on national affairs were always just, England among others would not be painted so black as she sometimes is, and a Senator of the United States would not recently have advocated the fitting out of Abyssinian privateers against her. But for extreme sensitiveness to this kind of treatment the Americans are commonly supposed to be remarkable above all other people. There are some who profess to understand them extremely well, who always spring out in indignant protest if the slightest exception is taken to any occurrence within the limits of the Union. They treat the American people as spoilt children, who must not be crossed, lest they should be driven into ill temper.

Then there is another class which has a direct interest in perpetuating distrust between the two nations and in inducing them to think that each hates the other. It is not a large class, but it is not altogether destitute of influence. First, there is a set of Irish Americans, of whom we have lately heard more than is interesting or pleasant. They have their agents in both Houses of Congress, and their friends in this country, who are never weary of telling us that the American people detest England and would gladly go to war with her. On the other side of the Atlantic they find incessant occupation in exasperating the grievances which were provoked during the long conflict with the South. It is true that there are always men ready to rise in their places in the Legislature and protest against the attempt to make more bad blood between the two English speaking nations. "No greater evil could happen to America," said Senator Reverdy Johnson lately, "than a war with Great Britain." The work of mischief makers will not cease on account of such declarations as this, and some members of our own Legislature, in books or speeches, are ready to assure us that America bears no good feeling toward the old country, but is separated from her by an immeasurable distance in every thought and feeling.

People who live with the Americans soon discover the perverseness of these misrepresentations, but this means of correcting prejudices can only be enjoyed by a few. Occasionally, however, incidents occur which throw a strong and true light upon the disposition and character of a nation concerning which the best informed Englishman has always something to learn. Such an incident is the visit of one of our chief living writers to the United States under circumstances which, if old stories of Americans were true, would have insured the failure of the experiment. The result has a deeper interest attaching to it than a personal one, although we can conceive that to Mr. Charles Dickens this also has been exceedingly gratifying. Wherever he has made his appearance he has been followed by a crowd of admirers. Not a single unpleasant word has been addressed to him, at least from any quarter entitled to a moment's consideration. His hearers, familiar with his writings as only a few English people are, receive the name of each of the well known characters in the course of a reading with a storm of applause. Obviously he will have no reason to repent the resolution which led him to revisit America, and we are quite sure he will bring back with him very different impressions from those he formed five and twenty years ago. Nothing, however, that Mr. Dickens can tell the world will testify more strongly to the generous character of the people than their own conduct toward him. He has not spared them, or we should rather say, their progenitors in times past. The marked peculiarities which were to be met with in America years back, were wrought up into enduring pictures by his hands, and they have amused no one more than the Americans themselves. The personal application of Dickens' satires is more commonly and universally made in the United States than anywhere else. Every one professes to know men of whom Elijah Pogram and General Choke are the prototypes. But while accepting these pronounced characters with good humor, the Americans have, not unreasonably, wished that the more attractive qualities of their people had not escaped the notice of their critic.

If there had been a soreness against Mr. Dickens, it is because it is considered that his photographs were all taken from one class, and that an inferior class, and exhibited as an accurate representation of the entire community. We have seen the same process applied to England by Americans, and can appreciate the misrepresentation. A man takes a bad workhouse as an example of the brutality with which the English treat the poor, or he singles out a ruffian who beats his wife and displays him as a specimen of the British character. There is no people who will not suffer from treatment such as this. The Americans might have looked upon Mr. Dickens as an offender against them, and made him a sort of scapegoat for all subsequent offenders. That, indeed, was the line which a few—a very few—of the American newspapers recommended, but it was never for an instant probable that the people would take it. They have, instead, given their visitor a welcome which must have far surpassed in warmth and friendship his own expectations.

A people who can act thus cannot be so bitterly prejudiced against everything English as some would have us believe. They prove themselves to be a liberal minded and fair dealing people, instead of a race filled with petty hatreds and malignities, such as certain persons belonging to both countries sometimes depict them. Every one who has seen much of the Americans has been impressed by the warmth and kindness of their character, and by the avowed affection which a large proportion of them entertain for the country from which they take their rise. There is one thing in the disposition of both the English and the Americans which makes them half reluctant to acknowledge the good points they recognize in each other. The sense of kinship sometimes impels men to reprove more vigorously than they praise. But after all the animosities or prejudices of a former generation are dying out under the influence of free and well informed discussion. The criticisms which once vexed the Americans [illegible] no longer possible, partly, perhaps, because more just observation is applied to them, but partly, as they would be the first to acknowledge, because they are no longer in that state of immaturity through which all great nations pass. The American people have grown, and in accordance with all human experience have grown all the more quickly under the pressure of anxiety and trouble. The tone of the national character, so to speak, has been mellowed and [illegible]. The [illegible] of America written five and twenty years ago [illegible] as we read Macaulay's account of the state of the English people in 1685. It [illegible] former generation almost as other race whose portrait [illegible]. The Supreme Court

[From the New York Tribune.]

The Times and World are hunting in couple, are [illegible] snuffing the air and scratching [illegible] eagerly to find something in the Constitution which prevents Congress from enacting that two thirds or three fourths of the Supreme Court shall be necessary to annul an Act of Congress on the ground of unconstitutionality. They are unable to find a single clause to sustain their assumption. The Times therefore goes to the expense (of character) to invent one. It strangely says that the Supreme Court shall decide all questions arising under the Constitution. The Constitution does not so declare. It declares that "the judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under the Constitution, the laws of the United States and treaties," etc. It is the judicial power presiding in the Supreme, Circuit and District Courts, which is here defined, and not the Supreme Court merely, and it is "cases in law and equity," not "all questions arising under the Constitution," of which jurisdiction is conferred on these Courts. The distinction is not merely verbal, but historical and important. The Supreme Court had fulfilled its proper function of deciding cases in law and equity many years before the theory was broached that it had the power to annul a law of Congress, by deciding it unconstitutional in such a manner as would bind the executive and legislative branches of the Government. President Jackson held that the three co-ordinate branches of the Government must interpret the Constitution independently, each for itself, and that the construction placed on it by Congress could not bind either the executive or Congress. The whole doctrine that the Supreme Court has a revisory jurisdiction over the laws of Congress and can sustain or annul them at pleasure, according to the political bias of the judges, is one of recent growth. It could not have been foreseen by the framers of the Constitution, for no such power exists in the highest Courts of Great Britain, in analogy to which our Constitution is framed in many respects. So far as the framers of the Constitution showed a design to place the ultimate sovereignty anywhere, it was vested in Congress, not in the Supreme Court. But slavery having a majority in the Supreme Court after it had lost it in Congress, took refuge in its citadel and undertook to erect it into a kind of supremacy over Congress and the Executive, like that which the Mikado or Spiritual Sovereign of Japan enjoys over the Tycoon or civil Emperor.

The gradual accession to, or usurpation of, this function by the Supreme Court converts it into a political and legislative branch of the Government. It becomes really the ultimate Senate for supervising the legislation of Congress, without whose assenting vote no law can be said to have been finally passed. That such a political power should hinge upon the mere power to decide "cases in law and equity" may be one of the logical effects of a written Constitution, just as party nominations to the Presidency are a logical effect of the Electoral College, but like that it was an unforeseen effect, and to claim that the framers of the Constitution contemplated that the Supreme Court should be lifted into a third House or Upper Senate of the Legislature, with a revisory power over the other two bodies and a veto on the President, is preposterous.

But conceding that the power to annul the laws of Congress at will is one of the powers which the Supreme Court may exercise as an incident to the power "to decide cases in law and equity," this power of the Supreme Court is still under the legislative control of Congress. For the Constitution confers on Congress the power "to make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution * * * * all powers vested by this Constitution, in the Government of the United States or any department or officer thereof."

If, therefore, it is one of the powers vested in the Supreme Court to decide for Congress what is and what is not Constitutional, then Congress may make all laws which in its own judgment, "shall be necessary and proper" to regulate the manner in which the Supreme Court shall decide upon the constitutionality of the acts of Congress. If, therefore, in the judgment of Congress, it is proper and ought to be necessary that the Supreme Court should not annul an act of Congress for alleged unconstitutionality, except by a three fourths or unanimous vote, then a law to that effect is one of the laws which Congress is expressly authorized to pass by clause 18 of section 8 of article I of the Constitution of the United States. Congress has never exercised a power more plainly conferred.

John

The time had come to speak when his pride was touched. John lived a noble life. One can wear out these troubles. "No, do not go away. Stay here and make your heart forget its folly, if you can. Be a man and do a man's work, leaving the rest to God."

"I will, Jenny. God bless you!" and John had gone.

The next day she came to take leave of me. It rained dismally.

"Just think, Jenny—you little brown wren—of me. I am actually going abroad. Five years—is it a long time? But you look dismally sober—as sober as a girl over her first love letter. May be it is a lover, Jennie?" she said playfully. "Oh, well, I like John; he is worthy of you. I will bring you a wedding present from Paris."

She looked lovelier than ever in the plain little room, and her hair clinging about her soft white brow fitted for the luxury and beauty she lived in.

Louie Irvingham, did you know that afternoon how the rain sobbing outside my little window wailed as my own heart helplessly did, as I thought how little the love that you had would have been to you, how to me—life itself?

When the soft white face in its pretty framework of curls faded away in the rain, I looked at the hard lines coming into my face and the pain in my set mouth, and for an instant the great difference between us was so keen that God forgive the tears that kept time to the rain without.

There is little in the six years after to tell. John bought a vessel and was gone long whiles. I knew he was patient, and he never spoke her name. All the good that life seemed to bring him to do, I know he did. Sometimes I have longed to speak of his sorrow, but I never did.

Since [illegible] had placed me [illegible] great [illegible]. My life seemed like the saddest part of that little tune. I remember the harmony rose and fell till the whole ended in a triumphant burst of sound, and I used to wonder if my life would come to the joy in [illegible].

One day John came to me with a paper, a sort of a smile on his lips. His finger pointed me to a paragraph as he unfolded the paper, and I read—Louie's marriage.

"A rich great man," John said simply. "Jenny, I have overcome it. It was a boyish thing. I know how vain [illegible] it would have been."

This was all he said, folding up the paper and going away.

The six years were nearly over. Charlie and Louie had been [illegible] longer [illegible] than usual and were coming back. It seemed as though my life work was pretty clear. I thought as I spread the [illegible] and kindled a fire in the little front room. The damp chill of evening came again [illegible] at the gate. On the beach a knot of men had gathered. Perhaps the vessel was already in, and here came John to tell me. He kept his face from me as he came nearer, and [illegible] had seen [illegible] when [illegible] there he was there when he came up to me.

He led me in away from the [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible] apart [illegible] and warmed.

"Jenny, I am in trouble again. I have come to you."

I looked quickly up at him.

"I [illegible] lost more dear friends, and need you to tell me that God knows best and that it is right."

I thought of Louie and the Irvinghams, but [illegible] his face made me say:

"It is [illegible] and Charlie. They will never come home."

His face had fallen between his hands.

[illegible]

When eight months [illegible] a vessel came [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] with it and [illegible] and told I think a woman can bear heart pain better than a man. I loved Louie Irvingham foolishly, blindly, and grew to see it. Looking back to that day I have not forgotten some words you said: "Jenny, tell me whatever the boy's heart was, can you trust the man?"

I did trust it, and the victory notes came at last into my life.

He was to sail early on the morrow, and in three months I was to be his wife. What was the parting then? I did not think about the pain in my fullness of joy.

I've an idea you may call the ending of this story sad, but it isn't. Though the night that John's vessel set in for the harbor there was a storm and she went on the rocks, and, well—in the morning they drew him out of the surf, and brought him up to Nancy Bell and me. I think if I had had the old rebellious cry against God in my heart that I had the night before, when I heard the signal guns stop, I would have lost it from my first look at John's face, where a smile of peace and trust was. Next his heart I found a little flower I had given him, years before, in a bit of paper, with these words written:

"Jenny darling—the ship is going down. Don't make it hard for me to stay in Heaven without you, by feeling that this was so bitter, for, after all, the world may be dark, but the end may be enough for us both. You will know how much I would have said and could not. Be very tender of yourself for my sake. Comfort Nancy. God will comfort you, my brave darling.
JOHN ——."

And God did comfort me.

BERTHA S. SCRANTON.

Death of Bishop Hopkins

We clip the following from the San Francisco Bulletin of the 10th ult.:

The telegraph announces the death of John Henry Hopkins, Senior Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States. He was born in Dublin, June 30, 1792, and came to America with his parents in 1800. He was early engaged in the manufacture of iron in the western part of Pennsylvania, which interest was nearly destroyed by the peace of 1815. Hopkins quitted the business in 1817, and after six months study was admitted to the bar at Pittsburg. In 1823 he quitted the bar for the ministry and was soon after ordained, serving as rector of Trinity Church in the same city. In the diocesan convention of Pennsylvania in 1827, he was a prominent candidate for the office of assistant Bishop, the members being equally divided between him and Onderdonk. Mr. Hopkins cast his own vote for his rival and thus secured his election. The deceased served for a time as assistant minister of Trinity Church, Boston, and in 1832 was elected the first Bishop of the separate diocese of Vermont.

Bishop Hopkins was a prolific author. His remarkable versatility of talent appears in the wide range of subjects which he handled, many of them with consummate ability. At one time he gives to the public a book on the Evidences of Christianity, at another time one on Gothic Architecture. Then he publishes a volume of original poetry, accompanied with music of his own composition. And at a later date, he discusses, in book form, The American Citizen, his Rights and Duties. He was a keen controversialist, and did not hesitate to try a lance with the sharpest of the polemic and controversial writers of the times. The unpopular side of a question was much less repugnant to him than to timid men. It is a good illustration of his intellectual vigor and moral worth that while in later years he stoutly maintained views upon the subjects of slavery, temperance and the merits of the late civil war, which were repugnant to the majority of his friends, he never lost his hold upon their confidence as a man of sterling worth. He was a Christian gentleman of the old school, who, while zealously laboring for the advancement of his church, was recognized beyond it as one of the notable men of the times.

525 MILES
OF THE
UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD
Running West from Omaha
ACROSS THE CONTINENT,
ARE NOW COMPLETED.

THIS BRINGS THE LINE TO THE EASTERN BASE of the Rocky Mountains, and it is expected that the track will be laid thirty miles further, to Evans Pass, the highest point on the road, by January. The maximum grade from the foot of the mountains to the summit is but eighty feet to the mile, while that of many eastern roads is over one hundred. Work in the rock-cuttings on the western slope will continue through the winter, and there is now no reason to doubt that the entire grand line to the Pacific will be open for business in 1870.

The means provided for the construction of this Great National Work are ample. The United States grants its Six Per Cent. Bonds at the rate of from $16,000 to $48,000 per mile, for which it takes a second lien as security, and receives payment to a large if not to the full extent of its claim in services. These bonds are issued as each twenty mile section is finished, and after it has been examined by the United States Commissioners and pronounced to be in all respects a first class road, thoroughly supplied with depots, repair-shops, stations and all the necessary rolling stock and other equipments.

The United States also makes a donation of 12,800 acres of land to the mile, which will be a source of large revenue to the Company. Much of this land in the Platte Valley is among the most fertile in the world, and other large portions are covered with heavy pine forests and abound in coal of the best quality.

The Company is also authorized to issue its own First Mortgage Bonds to an amount equal to the issue of the Government and no more. Hon. E. D. Morgan and Hon. Oakes Ames are Trustees for the Bondholders, and deliver the bonds to the Company only as the work progresses, so that they always represent an actual and productive value.

The authorized capital of the Company is One Hundred Million Dollars, of which over five millions have been paid in upon the work already done.

EARNINGS OF THE COMPANY.

At present, the profits of the Company are derived only from its local traffic, but this is already much more than sufficient to pay the interest on all the Bonds the Company can issue, if not another mile were built. It is not doubted that when the road is completed the through traffic of the only line connecting the Atlantic and Pacific States will be large beyond precedent, and, as there will be no competition, it can always be done at profitable rates.

It will be noticed that the Union Pacific Railroad is, in fact, a Government Work, built under the supervision of Government officers, and to a large extent with Government money, and that its bonds are issued under Government direction. It is believed that no similar security is so carefully guarded, and certainly no other is based upon a larger or more valuable property. As the Company's are offered for the present at 90 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR, IN U. S. CURRENCY, they are the cheapest security in the market, being more than 15 per cent. lower than U. S. Stocks. They pay or over NINE PER CENT. upon the investment. Subscriptions will be received in Portland by

A Johnson's Candidate

Some of the newspapers have been speaking of General Hancock as A Johnson's candidate for the Presidency They base their assumptions on that celebrated message which Johnson sent to Congress, extolling Hancock coupling his name with that of Washington and making the Father of his Country seem ridiculously small by the extravagant terms of the comparison But it is pretty clear that Hancock, after all is not Johnson's candidate That supposition is nothing more than a pleasing delusion In short, Johnson's candidate would seem to be none other than Andy himself Or, if Andy is not his first choice for the chief office, there can be little doubt that he is his first choice for the second place To put it differently, it may possibly be the design of A J to get Hancock nominated for the Presidency and to secure for himself a place on the ticket as the candidate for the Vice Presidency feeling sure that within a month or so after the inauguration, he would again, by the kindly interposition of some hand inimical to "tyrants," obtain possession of the chief office. Hancock is, in Democratic parlance, one of the military upstarts who owe their great stars to their country's ruin and it might be necessary to make him a candidate in order to obtain the votes of a class who supported the war and whose co-operation the "Democracy" are exceedingly anxious to secure, while the "unregenerated" masses of the party would, in A J's opinion, be content with him as their candidate for Vice President, feeling confident that they would not be obliged to wait long to get the military upstart out of the way It seems probable therefore, that if Hancock is Johnson's candidate for President, Andy himself will insist on having the nomination for the Vice Presidency and that this is the only condition on which A J would support the "second Washington" for the leading position. But we cannot quite fall in with this theory, and its rejection necessitates the repudiation of the idea that Johnson would support Hancock at all. Besides, it is exceedingly improbable that the latter would consent to such an arrangement; for though the Presidency is a glittering prize, where is the man who would accept the office if A. Johnson stood behind him ready to slip into his place? The idea will not bear examination from any point of view, and hence we do not believe that Hancock is Johnson's candidate.

A. J is not a man who believes that anybody is more popular, or able to obtain more votes than himself. Hence he would scout the idea of running Hancock on the ground of availability And though he has spoken highly of Hancock's love for the Constitution, has he not on innumerable occasions, told how great is his own veneration for that sacred instrument? Though he has told us that General Hancock is good and great and wise, we have his own word for it that he is good and great and wise also. Where, then, is Hancock's advantage? Would any one who has read the President's speeches venture to assert that Hancock's devotion to the Constitution is greater than A. J's own, or that it has been more valuable to the country? The supposition is absurd As to the merits of the President, we have his own testimony, and in view of these facts, it is idle to set Hancock up against him That Mr Johnson himself takes this view, it is not worth our while to doubt. Why then should any one suppose that he favors Hancock for the Presidency?

Between the two wings of the Democratic party Johnson might be a compromise candidate and is therefore available, as well as deserving His hands are not "stained with fraternal blood," which was so unfortunately and unconstitutionally shed in compelling Southern Democrats to submit to the result of elections, therefore he has an advantage with one section of the party over any "Federal butcher" like Hancock Again, to the bond holding section of the party, who will be sure to take such a man as Pendleton, Johnson may prove a very acceptable candidate Only a few days ago the telegraph apprised us that Pendleton's friends were getting frightened as Johnson is said to have the "inside track" Who will say that Johnson stock is not worth quoting in the Presidential market?

Perhaps the country may again be edified with the spectacle of Mr Johnson taking the stump in his own behalf Perhaps his voice may again be heard hurling defiance at a "mendacious press and a gang of subsidized hirelings who have been hired to traduce him" Perhaps that rhetorical flourish may be repeated about his having been engaged in fighting traitors at the Southern end of the line, and now having turned to fight them in the other direction Something may also be said about "your Congress that is trying to break up the Government" and some remarks may be thrown in declaring the speaker's intention to appeal to the reason and not to the passion of the people. These echoes still linger in the public ear and their repetition is quite within the range of possible things

The writer of a letter from Washington City which was published in this paper a short time since seems to have got the impression that the people of Portland are opposed to the Humboldt Branch Railroad scheme We cannot conceive that Portland is opposed to any railroad which may touch Oregon in any quarter or pass through the State in any direction and especially is this inconceivable in the case of any road which proposes to begin or terminate here Therefore the supposition of our correspondent whatever it may be based upon must be incorrect. There seems to be but little probability that Congress will grant a subsidy for either of the branches proposed but a subsidy for either would be received with every demonstration of favor not only by Portland but by the larger part of the State

A meeting of the National Lincoln Monument Association was held at Springfield (Ill) January 2d The report states that they present a able fund of the Association is $ [illegible] An earnest effort will be made to increase the fund to $200 000, as that is the sum now contemplated to be expended for the monument

Payment for Slaves

Senator Morton of Indiana recently delivered a powerful speech to the Soldiers and Sailors Union at Washington from which we take some extracts setting forth the danger that claims will soon be pressed for payment for emancipated slaves That this idea is not an imaginary one let the course which the reactionists are taking be cited to prove The State of Maryland in her new Constitution just adopted takes the following ground

The General Assembly shall pass no law providing for payment by this State for slaves emancipated from servitude in this State but they may adopt such measures as they may deem expedient to obtain from the United States payment for such slaves and to receive and distribute the same equitably to the persons entitled

Of course a law involving so many millions of dollars to the late rebel and present governing class of Maryland, will be passed with all the zeal which the love of money and rage for the destroyed institution can inspire

In 1865 Georgia gave notice in the following emphatic manner that she should demand payment for her slaves

The Government of the United States having as a war measure proclaimed all slaves held or owned in this State emancipated from slavery and having carried that proclamation into full practice provided that acquiescence in the action of the Government of the United States is not intended to operate as a relinquishment or waiver or estoppel of such claim for compensation for loss sustained by reason of the emancipation of his slaves as any citizen of Georgia may hereafter make upon the justice and magnanimity of that Government

We have already noticed the resolution recently adopted by the Legislature of Democratic Kentucky to take steps to obtain payment for their slaves but in this connection it is worth while to quote it again

Resolved by the General Assembly of Kentucky That a select committee composed of five members of this House and five of the Senate be appointed with instructions to report as soon as practicable to the General Assembly of Kentucky the assessed value of the slaves taken from citizens of Kentucky by Federal Executive proclamation by Acts of Congress and by the amendments to the Federal constitution (known as article 13) and also the value of such slaves taken from such county of this Commonwealth and that said committee report what steps are necessary and proper to enable citizens of the State to obtain compensation from the Federal government for said property so taken

In commenting on these facts Senator Morton well says that this question of paying for emancipated slaves will be one of the issues in the approaching national election We cite the following from his speech

All the rebels in the South will be unanimous on this question and the interest at stake is so vast as to enable them to hold out great temptations in the way of corruption and the Democratic party of the North are not only in position to meet them but are fully committed to the justice and legality of their claims When, in 1866 it was proposed to amend the constitution so as to prohibit the government from making compensation for slaves every Democratic member of Congress, I believe in both Houses voted against it and through out the North, Democratic papers and orators denounced it with the utmost bitterness And when in 1862 the President's proclamation of emancipation appeared, and afterward in 1864 when it was formally proposed to abolish slavery by an amendment of the Constitution the Democracy everywhere, in Congress and out of it denounced the proclamation and amendment as unjust wicked and impolitic roundly declaring that the masters should not be deprived of their slaves without due compensation being made But were the Northern Democracy not already committed in favor of the proposition they would when the Southern wing made it a condition readily yield acquiescence, and thus add not less than eighteen hundred millions of dollars to the public debt Whoever believes in the rightfulness of the rebellion, or gave it their sympathy, must and will if consistent, be in favor of paying for the slaves

Pacific Military Division

The report of General Halleck, commanding the Military Division of the Pacific, is published in San Francisco papers which reach us by mail It contains statistics which are of sufficient interest to be worth the attention of the general reader The territorial extent of the Pacific Division, including Alaska, is reckoned at 1 235, 000 square miles It is computed that in this territory there are about 130 000 Indians, something more than one third of the whole number in the United States About one ninth of the troops composing the army as now organized are now employed in this Division or to be more precise, the force consists of four regiments of infantry two of cavalry and one of artillery Of the 76 companies which compose the seven regiments in this Division 25 are assigned to the Department of the Columbia 47 to the Department of California and four to the District of Alaska Of the 25 companies in the Department of the Columbia five are serving in Washington Territory two in Idaho, and 18 in Oregon Several of the latter, however, are stationed near the boundary line, and operate in Oregon and Idaho as their services are required It is recommended that the number of Indian scouts employed in the Division be increased to one thousand At present they number only two hundred The General commanding complains that the number of desertions during the past year has been very great The report closes with the following remarks on the Indian question

Whatever may have been or may now be the effect of our Indian system east of the Rocky mountains, where the Indians are organized into large tribes and governed by powerful chiefs, it has proved worse than useless on this coast, where they live in small bands with no well recognized and responsible head The farce of Indian treaties should be entirely abandoned and these savages taught they are not independent nations, but the subjects of our Government and that, while they are amenable to our laws they are entitled to our protection

It is useless to expect the whites and Indians to live together in peace In revenge for savage barbarities, the frontier settlers kill the Indians without regard to their individual innocence or guilt The military are powerless to prevent this and the civil courts will not punish a white man for killing an Indian Consequently the Indians retaliate by murdering innocent whites without regard to sex or age

The only way in which this murderous frontier war can be terminated within a limited period, is to remove the Indians to some large and well defined reservations placed entirely under military authority and to exclude all white settlers therefrom It may take years to collect all the tribal Indians on these reservations but it can be done in time and thus entirely remove both the cause of and incentive to Indian wars

In condemning our present system as worse than useless I cast no reflections upon the present officers of the Indian Bureau in this Division So far as they are individually concerned, I believe they have endeavored to do as much good as possible with their limited means The fault is in the system itself and no efficient remedy can be applied so long as that system is continued In my opinion the public interests on this coast imperiously demand a radical change And this necessity has been made still more imperative by the addition of some forty or fifty thousand tribal and uncivilized natives in Russian America It is true that these natives now are and have been for a long time, at peace with the whites but these peaceful relations will soon be interrupted if our Indian system with all its corruptions should be introduced in that country

BOOT AND SHOE STORE!
To the Public.

OWING TO THE VARIOUS STATEMENTS circulated by some of the Trade that the Goods now on exhibition in my Show Case are imported I respectfully announce to the public that all and every pair were MANUFACTURED ON MY PREMISES and by public patronage I am prepared to produce every style of BOOTS and SHOES thus proving by the various styles the excellence of my house in the Dispatch of orders One inducement is the lack of Double fit fits a benefit the public should avail themselves of. The want of a First Class Manufactory has long been felt in this city, and to attain this I have combined such talent as will enable me to offer the public superior goods to those heretofore forwarded by the various agencies of our Portland houses

AMONG THE INDIANS.—There is at present in this city a young boy named George Henry Sylvester, who has spent the most of his life since 1861, among the Snake, Cheyenne and Sioux Indians. His father and family live at the Dalles or in that vicinity. In 1861, while crossing the plains from Illinois to this coast, and while encamped on the Humboldt river, the boy George was suddenly missing, the parents conjecturing rightly that the Snake Indians had stolen him. He has not a definite recollection of the circumstances of his capture beyond the fact that the Indians seized and hurried him off and kept him for about two years, treating him as well as is in the nature of an Indian to do. He was then traded to the Cheyennes for two horses, and remained with that tribe as near as he remembers about a year, when he was again traded by them to the Sioux for one horse. This occurred some time in 1864. He remained among the Sioux till just before Christmas, in 1866. During that time bands to which he successively belonged, ranged and hunted the Smoky Hill, Arkansas river, Republican fork, etc. Though in a manner accustomed to Indian life, he ever felt a desire to escape from them and return among the whites, but never had an opportunity to do so till the time above mentioned. Being sent out on horseback to watch a band of horses, he concluded to make the attempt to get away, and accordingly started toward Julesburg, riding for a whole day and night at the utmost possible speed. His horse finally dropped down exhausted and died, when he took his way on foot. During the trip, he had no food except the carcass of an ox which he found dead, and a crow which he contrived to kill. During the nights he was compelled to build fires to keep away the gray wolves which flocked close around, snarling and barking, and impatient for their prey. He describes these nights as most horrible; doubly so because the fires built to keep away the wolves, increased the danger of his recapture by the Indians whom he supposed to be in pursuit. When within about fifty miles of Julesburg, he encountered a soldier who took him in custody supposing him to be an Indian boy or girl, either lost or sent as a spy. Being taken to Omaha, a soldier was found who could talk the Sioux language, to whom George related his history. Col. King then sent him to St. Louis, where the facts of his captivity and escape were published in the newspapers, with a view to the discovery of his relatives. An uncle residing in Illinois read the advertisements, went to St. Louis and took the boy home with him, and informed his father of his recovery. Before, however, his father had been heard from, George got sick and became dissatisfied, and running away went to Ft. Laramie and there enlisted in the 2d U. S. Cavalry. Through Senator Corbett's influence he was soon after discharged from the service with a view to his return to his parents. However, instead of returning home, he ran away again early in 1867, and went and joined the Sioux under the chieftaincy of "Spotted Tail." He stayed with this band three months when he split off from the band with sixteen lodges and two hundred Indians, by whom he was chosen as their chief. The Indians called him "Little Sun," or in their own dialect, "Wassetcho." He pursued hunting and trapping with his tribe until the beginning of winter, when he started with his buffalo robes and furs, to what is now Ft. McPherson. On the way he froze his hands and feet badly, and in consequence of this concluded to give up his wild and roving life. He accordingly made his way to his uncle's, who persuaded him to come to his parents in Oregon. He arrived here, a passenger by the steamer Ajax, and is now awaiting the opening of the Columbia river, to go to the Dalles. George is quite an intelligent, bright boy, speaks his native tongue but brokenly, and has evidently been long enough with the Indians to acquire their restless and adventurous spirit. Whether his return to the whites is to be permanent, is a little problematical, though time and home associations may eventually lead him back to his own proper nature. Much of his personal experiences and adventures, we have omitted for want of room.

GRAND LODGE OF ODD FELLOWS.—Mr. Cris Taylor has presented us with a copy of the proceedings of the Annual Communication of the Grand Lodge of the United States, I. O. O. F., held at New York City, Sept. 16th 1867. Mr. Taylor represented the Grand Lodge of Oregon. Upon the opening of the Communication, there were present, representatives from 27 Grand Lodges and 13 Grand Encampments. There were four Past Grand Sires present. Ten accredited representatives from Grand Lodges and twelve from Grand Encampments were absent at the opening. During the year, previous, as shown by the annual report of the R. W. Grand Sire, one Grand Lodge, one Grand Encampment, five subordinate encampments and one subordinate lodge were instituted by dispensation from the R. W. Grand Sire. The annual report of the R. W. Grand Secretary shows the number of Grand Lodges which reported to the R. W. Grand Lodge for the year ending June 30, 1867, were 41 in number, with 2,860 subordinate lodges into which 35,621 initiations had taken place during the year. The total membership of the lodges reported, amounted to 214,661. The encampment members reported numbered 24,541. The following is a list of the officers of the R. W. Grand Lodge for the year 1868:

R. W. Grand Sire, James P. Sanders, Yonkers, New York.
R. W. G. C. and R. Sec'y, Jas. L. Ridgely, Baltimore, Maryland.
R. W. Grand Treasurer, Joshua Tansant, Baltimore, Maryland.
R. W. G. Chaplain, Rev. I. D. Williamson, Delhi, O.
R. W. Grand Marshal, John S. Heiss, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.
R. W. Grand Guardian, John P. Foss, Chicago, Ill.
R. W. Grand Messenger, J. E. Chamberlain, Baltimore, Maryland.

OREGON MINING INTERESTS.—The San Francisco Commercial Herald of Jan. 11, has a general review of the mining operations and gold and silver yield of the Pacific coast States and Territories, for the year 1867, from which we copy the following concerning Oregon and Washington Territory: "Oregon makes about the same yield of metallic production for the past as for the two or three preceding years. The earnings of those engaged in placer mining, mostly carried on upon the confluents of John Day's river and in the southwestern part of the State, appear to have ranged from four to six dollars per day, about the usual standard for several years past. There is some quartz mining carried on with success in the vicinity of Jacksonville, where there are many lodes of good promise, but the attempts made not long since at prosecuting this business in the Santiam country, fifty miles southeast of Salem, have been abandoned, after considerable sums spent in erecting a mill and in other preliminary labors. The total yield of bullion for this State the past year is estimated at about $1,000,000. Washington Territory—if we credit this Territory with a bullion product of one million dollars for the past year it may be considered a fair, if not a liberal allowance. The gold from that section is mostly collected from about Fort Colville, on the upper Columbia, in the Kootenai country, and other places in the vicinity. The diggings are shallow and easily worked, but the length and rigor of the winters prevent labor in the mines for more than six or seven months in each year. The population consists of about six hundred Chinamen and about half that number of whites. Placers and quartz veins have been found in the Cascade mountains and elsewhere in this Territory, but they have not proved sufficiently rich to invite extensive working."

BASE BALL CONVENTION.—The State Convention of Base Ball Players, called by the Pioneer Club of this city, met yesterday. The following delegates were reported by the Committee on Credentials, entitled to seats: Messrs. Joe Buchtel and Ed. Quackenbush, of the Pioneers, Portland; C. P. Ferry and J. C. Work, of the Spartans, Portland; D. P. Thompson and B. Killen, of the Clackamas Club, Oregon City; Jno. M. Bacon and Charles Warren, of the Highland Club, Oregon City, and Capt. Babbitt and D. Leahy, of Washingtons, Vancouver. An organization of a State Association was effected by the adoption of a Constitution and By Laws, providing generally for the government of all the clubs now or hereafter belonging to the Association. The name of the association is, "The Oregon and Washington and Idaho Territories Association of Base Ball Players." Joseph Buchtel, of the Pioneer Club, was elected President; D. P. Thompson, of the Clackamas Club, Vice President; J. M. Bacon, of the Highland Club, Recording Secretary; C. P. Ferry, of the Spartan Club, Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer; J. C. Work of the Spartan Club, Judge Advocate. The next regular meeting will be held at Portland. The constitution provides that all clubs in good repute in Oregon, Washington and Idaho may join the Association, and an invitation, by resolution, was extended to them, to do so. The OREGONIAN and Herald were designated as the mediums through which the Association will publish the decisions of the Judiciary Committee. The Constitution and By Laws are to be published in pamphlet form, and will doubtless be distributed to all the clubs of the State and Territories. After a vote of thanks to Mr. S. B. Parrish, of the Pioneers, for the use of his rooms, refreshments, etc., the Association adjourned.

CIRCUIT COURT—UPTON, JUDGE.—The following are the proceedings of yesterday in the Circuit Court:

State vs. Mary Pinlonnen, defendant indicted for selling spirituous liquors to an Indian. Arraigned, and R. E. Bybee appointed to defend.

State vs. Ah Chee, Ah Shui and Ah Kow, indicted for larceny. Caples and McCoy appointed counsel for defendants.

Flora B. Riley vs. Jas. Riley. R. E. Bybee appointed referee to take proofs.

State vs. Wm. Fox, John Holt and John Brookshank, defendants appearing—J. H. Stinson, attorney, plea of not guilty withdrawn, and defendants plead guilty of petit larceny, and were each sentenced to imprisonment in the county jail for four months.

State vs. Wong Chol, indicted for keeping a bawdy house; R. E. Bybee and Charles Parrish appointed counsel for defendants.

State vs. De Cunh and Dong Chd, indicted for keeping a bawdy house, arraigned and allowed until to-morrow to plead.

State vs. Joseph Taylor, verdict of jury, defendant guilty as charged in the indictment and property stolen valued at $310 gold coin, motion to increase the amount of bail by District Attorney, defendant gave notice of a motion for a new trial. The motion to increase amount of bail was sustained, and it was ordered that the defendant give bail in the sum of $3,000, in default of which to be committed to jail.

EXPORTS OF OREGON WOOL.—In the year 1867 Oregon exported to San Francisco and other ports 3,766 bales of wool, or about 753,200 pounds. It may be interesting to know how this compares with the shipments of former years. The San Francisco Commercial Herald, of a late date, credits us, according to the following table:

Oregon	Bales	Pounds	Increase Pounds Pct	Decrease Pounds Pct
1862	2,051	410,200
1863	1,714	342,800		77,400—1
1864	2,161	[illegible]	[illegible]—25
1865	4,058	791,600	361,600—84
1866	3,766	753,200		38,400—5

The year 1867 shows a falling off of 91,200 pounds from the shipments of the previous year—chiefly owing to the increased amount used in our home manufactories. While on this subject we may as well quote the following warning from the Herald: "It would not be venturing very largely to say that if the Oregon farmers put their wools up in the same way as they did four or five years ago as they did in 1866, the reputation will be best preserved by keeping their wool at home."

THE OLYMPIC THEATRE.—The current performance at the Olympic Theatre is a considerable improvement on anything of the kind lately exhibited in this city. It's best evidence of this is a fair and ever every night. This evening an entire change of programme and a good bill.

NEW FIRM AND NEW STORE.—Messrs. G. H. Clarke, M. W. Henderson and N. Cook have recently entered into co-partnership, under the firm name of Clarke, Henderson & Cook, and are now engaged in fitting up the large brick store lately occupied by Schonfeld & Co., corner of Washington and First streets, as a first class Dry Goods and Furnishing Store. Mr. Clarke goes to San Francisco by the steamer Ajax to purchase goods. They intend to start with and keep up one of the largest stocks of the kind in the city. The new firm will be a popular, and no doubt a successful one, as all of the members have had experience, and acquaintance with the wants of the market.

CIRCUIT COURT—DEADY, JUSTICE.—Proceedings of the 20th and 21st. J. R. Lamb et al. vs. A. M. Starr, et al. in equity.

Order that complainants herein set the cause for hearing on bill and answer, or file general replication within ten days.

James Field vs. Ely Squires, complainant has until the 1st Monday in March to file amendments to bill.

John R. Lamb et al. vs. I. A. Davenport, et al., in equity. Demurrer to bill overruled at costs of defendant, and defendant has until the 1st Monday in April next to file answer.

Adjourned without day.

A HEAVY THROW.—The Dramatic Chronicle says: "It has been decided to throw an iron bridge across a deep ravine on that part of the Union Pacific line now being built." We are sorry that the Chronicle omitted to state who is to throw the bridge, or how far the athlete must throw it, to make it alight "across the deep ravine." A few particulars of that sort, thrown in, would have made that bridge performance draw immensely. But why throw the bridge across the ravine, any way?

MERCHANT TAILORING.—Barman Bros. inform us that they intend shortly to start a large Merchant Tailoring Establishment in connection with their mammoth clothing store. Mr. Isaac Barman will go below on the Ajax and upon his return, will inaugurate the new enterprise on a large scale, under the supervision of one of the best cutters from New York city. Mr. Barman will also purchase a large stock of clothing and furnishing goods for the Spring trade.

THE WASHINGTON GUARD'S BALL.—The fifth annual ball of the Washington Guard, in celebration of Washington's birthday, took place last evening at Oro Fino Hall, and was altogether a decidedly fine affair. The hall was very tastefully and appropriately decorated with festoons, shields and armor of the Company. The arrangements made by the committee were so complete as to render everything pleasant to the guests, and all seemed to enjoy an unusually happy evening.

PRODUCE.—The following produce arrived per steamer yesterday. Per Senator, from Oregon City, 2,162 qr sks flour, 223 boxes apples, 113 bbl bbls dried apples, 19 boxes eggs, 15 cases pork, 20 gunnies bacon, 19 pkgs stoneware, 4 cases hams, 100 sks feed, 7 cases lard. Per Alert, from Oregon City, 1,516 qr sks flour, 371 bags wheat, 20 sks feed, 5 bdles, 2 cases bacon.

PORTLAND LIBRARY.—The following new books have just been added to the Portland Library: The Guardian Angel, by O. W. Holmes; M. Fingal, an Epic Poem, by Lossing; The Last Hellicon, by Harte; Elsa, or Spain Fifty Years Ago, by Caballero; Love in Letters, by Allan Grant; Three English Statesmen, by Smith; Opportunity, by Author of Emily Chester.

THE ACADEMY.—The Portland Academy is enjoying this new term, a greater prosperity than ever. Over one hundred and seventy pupils have already been enrolled and accessions to the number are of every day occurrence.

GOOD TEMPLARS FAIR.—It is said a fair will be held in this city about the 1st of May, in aid of the Good Templars Library Association. Preparations are already in progress by ladies connected with the Order.

QUARTERLY MEETING.—The M. E. Quarterly meeting for Oregon City will be held to-day and to-morrow, under the charge of Rev. J. F. DeVore, Presiding Elder of the District.

GYMNASIUM.—The Gymnasium will be open this evening at the usual hour. All parties interested are requested to be present and participate in the exercises.

FLOUR FOR VICTORIA.—The schooner Crosby is taking in a cargo of flour and feed, from Vaughn's Mill, for the Victoria market. She will sail in a day or two.

CHANGE OF EVENING.—Portland Lodge of Good Templars has changed its time of meeting each week, from Thursday to Monday evening.

DAILY PRAYER MEETINGS.—The Union daily prayer meetings have been resumed and are held at noon at the Baptist church.

RECEIVED BY THE STEAMER AJAX.—A large assortment of those Knobby business suits, which we are selling at fabulously low prices. W. CUARIER & Co., 103 Front street.

TERPSICHOREAN CLUB.—Members of this Club will meet at their Hall this (Saturday) evening at 7 o'clock.

By order of the President,

DR. C. W. COOL,
DENTIST.
THOSE WHO DESIRE FIRST CLASS DENTAL SERVICES might do well to give him a call. He is making a NEW AND IMPROVED VULCANITE PLATE. The nature of his improvement consists in lining the entire concave surface with fine gold; it makes the plate twice as strong and one third times thinner than the common vulcanite plate. It also prevents the acids of the mouth from roughing the plate, and from turning it black, which is a common occurrence. One half of the common vulcanite plates turn black after being in use a short time, particularly where tobacco is used for smoking. His new style of plate admits of a very fine finish on the concave or palate surface. His office is the only place where such work can be had. The improvement is his own invention, for which he has received December 31, 1867, a patent from the United States Patent Office. He has been making this style of work for the last two and a half years, and has specimens of the work which can be seen at his office. This work has given satisfaction in every case.

THE MUTUAL
LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF NEW YORK.
Incorporated 1842.
CASH ASSETS $33,000,000 00
ANNUAL INCOME OVER 6,000,000 00
CASH DIVIDEND (Feb 1, 1867) 2,124,000 75
THE MUTUAL DOES A CASH BUSINESS ONLY AND HAS NO NOTES!
What a Note Company says:
"We recommend the CASH plan as the best mode of Insurance. None will deny this after a few years' experience of the different plans.—The Charter Oak Life Insurance Co. (a Note Company.)"
EXPERIENCE has taught business men that CREDITS must be paid for.
IN CASH COMPANIES the first payment is the largest, every successive year reduces the premium or increases the policy, at the option of the insured. Past records of the Mutual prove that in 15 years their payments cease, but DIVIDENDS continue for life.
IN NOTE COMPANIES—The first payment is the smallest—Interest on Notes swallow Dividends and increase the future payments.
OBSERVE—Notes must be paid for by higher rates and increased Insurance."
DIVIDENDS—The Mutual declares Dividends the first and every successive year from the date of a policy holders insurance. N. B.—The public should ascertain from other Insurance Companies if Dividends are declared annually from the start, or annually 4 YEARS AFTER insurance.
RATES in The Mutual are Lower than in any other Company doing business on the Pacific Coast—and are considerably lower than in any Note Company.
EVERY ADVANTAGE is offered by The Mutual—(excepting notes) that other Insurance Companies can offer.
THE MUTUAL
IS THE OLDEST AND LARGEST LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS should be in the possession of everybody in the mining region. As a preventive of various dangerous diseases to which the gold seeker is liable, it has no superior. While it is quite palatable even as a beverage, it is speedy and powerful in its effects upon the system. In all cases of diarrhea, dysentery and the prevailing fevers consequent upon exposure, the Bitters will be found invaluable as a corrective. No man should enter upon the exposed camp life of a miner without being provided with Hostetter's preventive of stomach disease, nor should any of those who are now engaged in the occupation, fail to have recourse to the Bitters.—Sold by all druggists and dealers everywhere.

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER,
THE UNIVERSAL REMEDY FOR INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL COMPLAINTS!
At this period there are but few of the human race unacquainted with the merits of the Pain Killer; but while some extol it as a liniment, they know but little of its power in easing pain when taken internally, while others use it internally with great success, but are equally ignorant of its healing virtues when applied externally. We therefore wish to say to all that it is equally successful whether used internally or externally, and it stands alone, unrivalled by all the great catalogue of Family Medicines, and its sale is universal and immense. The demand for it from India and other foreign countries is equal to the demand at home, and it has become known in these far off places by its merits.

G. VENARD,
CHARTRES COFFEE!
Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.
HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.
The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.
BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.
Each package bears the signature of G. VENARD.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS!
A Pure and Powerful Tonic,
Corrective and Alterative, of wonderful efficacy in Diseases of the
STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.
PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.
Prevents Fever and Ague and Billious Remittent Fevers; Fortifies the System against Miasma and the evil effects of unwholesome water, invigorates the organs of digestion and the bowels,
Steadies the Nerves and tends to Prolong Life.
REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.
Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Nervous Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness, whether inherent in the system or PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES.
NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL, and restorative in its nature, enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind; no deadly botanical element, no fiery excitant; but it is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants, with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.
The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated, and the appetite restored by this Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia, and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and ... organs.
Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits, and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is conclusive, and from both sexes.
As a Genuine Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay, and Debility and Decrepitude arising from old age, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.
Last, but not least, it is the only safe stimulant, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

A. Johnson's Candidate

Some of the newspapers have been speaking of General Hancock as A. Johnson's candidate for the Presidency. They base their assumptions on that celebrated message which Johnson sent to Congress, extolling Hancock, coupling his name with that of Washington and making the father of his Country seem ridiculously small by the extravagant terms of the comparison. But it is pretty clear that Hancock, after all, is not Johnson's candidate. That supposition is nothing more than a pleasing delusion. In short, Johnson's candidate would seem to be none other than Andy himself. Or, if Andy is not his first choice for the chief office, there can be little doubt that he is his first choice for the second place. To put it differently, it may possibly be the design of A. J. to get Hancock nominated for the Presidency and to secure for himself a place on the ticket as the candidate for the Vice Presidency, feeling sure that within a month or so after the inauguration, he would again, by the friendly interposition of some hand inimical to "tyrants," obtain possession of the chief office. Hancock is in Democratic parlance, one of the military upstarts who owe their greatness to their country's ruin, and it might be necessary to make him a candidate in order to obtain the votes of a class who supported the war and whose co-operation the Democracy are exceedingly anxious to secure, while the "unregenerated" masses of the party would, in A. J.'s opinion, be content with him as their candidate for Vice President, feeling confident that they would not be obliged to wait long to get the military upstart out of the way. It seems probable, therefore, that if Hancock is Johnson's candidate for President, Andy himself will insist on having the nomination for the Vice Presidency, and that this is the only condition on which A. J. would support the "second Washington" for the leading position. But we cannot quite fall in with this theory, and its rejection necessitates the repudiation of the idea that Johnson would support Hancock at all. Besides, it is exceedingly improbable that the latter would consent to such an arrangement, for though the Presidency is a glittering prize, where is the man who would accept the office if A. Johnson stood behind him ready to slip into his place? The idea will not bear examination from any point of view, and hence we do not believe that Hancock is Johnson's candidate.

A. J. is not a man who believes that anybody is more popular, or able to obtain more votes than himself. Hence he would scout the idea of running Hancock on the ground of availability. And though he has spoken highly of Hancock's love for the Constitution, has he not on innumerable occasions, told how great is his own veneration for that sacred instrument? Though he has told us that General Hancock is good and great and wise, we have his own word for it that he is good and great and wise also. Where, then, is Hancock's advantage? Would any one who has read the President's speeches venture to assert that Hancock's devotion to the Constitution is greater than A. J.'s own, or that it has been more valuable to the country? The supposition is absurd. As to the merits of the President we have his own testimony, and in view of these facts, it is idle to set Hancock up against him. That Mr. Johnson himself takes this view, it is not worth our while to doubt. Why then should any one suppose that he favors Hancock for the Presidency?

Between the two wings of the Democratic party Johnson might be a compromise candidate and therefore available, as well as deserving. His hands are not "stained with fraternal blood" which was so unfortunately and unconstitutionally shed in compelling Southern Democrats to submit to the result of elections; therefore he has an advantage with one section of the party over any "Federal butcher" like Hancock. Again, to the bond holding section of the party who will never take such a man as Pendleton, Johnson may prove a very acceptable candidate. Only a few days ago the telegraph apprized us that Pendleton's friends were getting frightened as Johnson seemed to have the "inside track." Who will say that Johnson stock is not worth quoting in the Presidential market?

Perhaps the country may again be edified with the spectacle of Mr. Johnson taking the stump in his own behalf. Perhaps his voice may again be heard hurling defiance at a mendacious press and a gang of subsidized hirelings who have been hired to traduce him. Perhaps that rhetorical flourish may be repeated about his having been engaged in fighting traitors at the Southern end of the line, and now having turned to fight them in the other direction. Something may also be said about "your Congress that is trying to break up the Government," and some remarks may be thrown in declaring the speaker's intention to appeal to the reason and not to the passion of the people. These echoes still linger in the public ear and their repetition is quite within the range of possible things.

The writer of a letter from Washington City which was published in this paper a short time since seems to have got the impression that the people of Portland are opposed to the Humboldt Branch Railroad scheme. We cannot conceive that Portland is opposed to any railroad which may touch Oregon in any quarter, or pass through the State in any direction; and especially is this inconceivable in the case of a road which proposes to begin or terminate here. Therefore the supposition of our correspondent, whatever it may be based upon, must be incorrect. There seems to be but little probability that Congress will grant a subsidy for either of the branches proposed; but a subsidy for either would be received with every demonstration of favor, not only by Portland, but by the larger part of the State.

A meeting of the National [illegible] Monument Association was held at Springfield, Ill., [illegible] The report [illegible] a fund [illegible] earnest effort will be made to increase the fund to $200,000, as that is the sum now contemplated to be expended for the monument.

Payment for Slaves

Senator Morton, of Indiana, recently delivered a powerful speech to the Soldiers' and Sailors' Union at Washington, from which we take some extracts setting forth the danger that claims will soon be pressed for payment for emancipated slaves. That this idea is not an imaginary one let the course which the reactionists are taking be cited to prove. The State of Maryland in her new Constitution just adopted takes the following ground:

The General Assembly shall pass no law providing for payment by this State for slaves emancipated from servitude in this State; but they may adopt such measures as they may deem expedient to obtain from the United States payment for such slaves, and to receive and distribute the same equitably to the persons entitled.

Of course a law involving so many millions of dollars to the late rebel and present governing class of Maryland will be passed with all the zeal which the love of money and rage for the destroyed institution can inspire.

In 1865 Georgia gave notice in the following emphatic manner that she should demand payment for her slaves:

The Government of the United States having, as a war measure, proclaimed all slaves held or owned in this State emancipated from slavery, and having carried that proclamation into full practice, provided that acquiescence in the action of the Government of the United States is not intended to operate as a relinquishment or waiver or estoppel of such claim for compensation for loss sustained by reason of the emancipation of his slaves as any citizen of Georgia may hereafter make upon the justice and magnanimity of that Government.

We have already noticed the resolution recently adopted by the Legislature of Democratic Kentucky to take steps to obtain payment for their slaves, but in this connection it is worth while to quote it again:

Resolved by the General Assembly of Kentucky, That a select committee, composed of five members of this House and five of the Senate, be appointed with instructions to report as soon as practicable to the General Assembly of Kentucky the assessed value of the slaves taken from citizens of Kentucky by Federal Executive proclamation, by Acts of Congress, and by the amendments to the Federal Constitution (known as article 13), and also the value of such slaves taken from each county of this Commonwealth, and that said committee report what steps are necessary and proper to enable citizens of the State to obtain compensation from the Federal government for said property so taken.

In commenting on these facts Senator Morton well says that this question of paying for emancipated slaves will be one of the issues in the approaching national election. We cite the following from his speech:

All the rebels in the South will be unanimous on this question, and the interest at stake is so vast as to enable them to hold out great temptations in the way of corruption, and the Democratic party of the North are not only in position to meet them, but are fully committed to the justice and legality of their claims. When, in 1866, it was proposed to amend the constitution so as to prohibit the government from making compensation for slaves, every Democratic member of Congress, I believe, in both Houses, voted against it, and, throughout the North, Democratic papers and orators denounced it with the utmost bitterness. And when in 1862 the President's proclamation of emancipation appeared, and afterward in 1864, when it was formally proposed to abolish slavery by an amendment of the Constitution, the Democracy everywhere in Congress and out of it denounced the proclamation and amendment as unjust, wicked and impolitic, and loudly declaring "that the masters should not be deprived of their slaves without due compensation being made." But were the Northern Democracy not already committed in favor of the proposition, they would, when the Southern wing made it a condition, readily yield acquiescence, and thus add not less than eighteen hundred millions of dollars to the public debt. Whoever believes in the rightfulness of the rebellion, or gave it their sympathy, must and will, if consistent, be in favor of paying for the slaves.

Pacific Military Division

The report of General Halleck, commanding the Military Division of the Pacific, is published in San Francisco papers which reach us by mail. It contains statistics which are of sufficient interest to be worth the attention of the general reader. The territorial extent of the Pacific Division, including Alaska, is reckoned at 1,235,000 square miles. It is computed that in this territory there are about 130,000 Indians, something more than one third of the whole number in the United States. About one ninth of the troops comprising the army as now organized are now employed in this Division, or to be more precise, the force consists of four regiments of infantry, two of cavalry and one of artillery. Of the 76 companies which compose the seven regiments in this Division, 25 are assigned to the Department of the Columbia, 47 to the Department of California, and four to the District of Alaska. Of the 25 companies in the Department of the Columbia, five are serving in Washington Territory, two in Idaho, and 18 in Oregon. Several of the latter, however, are stationed near the boundary line and operate in Oregon and Idaho as their services are required. It is recommended that the number of Indian scouts employed in the Division be increased to one thousand. At present they number only two hundred. The General commanding complains that the number of desertions during the past year has been very great. The report closes with the following remarks on the Indian question:

Whatever may have been, or may now be the effect of our Indian system east of the Rocky mountains, where the Indians are organized into large tribes and governed by powerful chiefs, it has proved worse than useless on this coast, where they live in small bands with no well recognized and responsible head. The farce of Indian treaties should be entirely abandoned, and these savages taught they are not independent nations, but the subjects of our Government, and that, while they are amenable to our laws, they are entitled to our protection.

It is useless to expect the whites and Indians to live together in peace. In revenge for savage barbarities, the frontier settlers kill the Indians without regard to their individual innocence or guilt. The military are powerless to prevent this, and the civil courts will not punish a white man for killing an Indian. Consequently the Indians retaliate by murdering innocent whites without regard to sex or age.

The only way in which this murderous frontier war can be terminated within a limited period is to remove the Indians to some large and well selected reservations, placed entirely under military control, and to exclude all white settlers therefrom. It may take years to effect all the tribal Indians on these reservations, but it can be done in time, and thus entirely remove both the cause of, and incentive to Indian wars.

In condemning our present system as worse than useless, I cast no reflections upon the present officers of the Indian Bureau in this Division. So far as they are individually concerned, I believe they have endeavored to do as much good as possible with their limited means. The fault is in the system itself, and no efficient remedy can be applied so long as that system is continued. In my opinion the public interests in this respect imperiously demand a radical change. And this necessity has been made still more imperative by the addition of some forty or fifty thousand tribal and uncivilized natives in Russian America. It is true that these natives now are, and have been for a long time, at peace with the whites; but these peaceful relations will soon be interrupted if our Indian system, with all its corruptions, should be introduced in that country.

General Grant as he Was and Is.—General Grant, when he was acquainted with poverty and unknown to fame, used to furnish wood to the family of Congressman H. T. Blow, of St. Louis, hauling it himself. On a recent occasion Mrs. Blow attended one of the general's receptions, and he greeted her as follows: "Mrs. Blow, I remember you well. What great changes [illegible] [illegible] those were happy days, for I was doing the best I could to support my family."

Those who over tax the voice in singing or public speaking will find Brown's Bronchial Troches exceedingly useful, enabling them to endure more than ordinary exertion with comparative ease, while they render articulation clear. For Throat Diseases and Coughs the Troches are of service.

First National Bank of Idaho—Boise City, I. T.—Organized March 11th 1867 (with circulation) under Act of Congress approved June 3d 1864. Authorized capital $500,000. Paid up capital $100,000. B. M. DuRell, President. C. W. Moore, Cashier. Collections of Notes and Accounts in the principal places of Idaho Territory promptly attended to. Exchange for Coin or Currency on this Bank can be purchased of Ladd & Tilton, Portland, Oregon.

SAVE YOUR MONEY and wait for the arrival of the LARGEST, FINEST, PRETTIEST and CHEAPEST STOCK OF CLOTHING, GENTS FURNISHING GOODS, DRY GOODS, etc., ever imported for the Oregon trade, which KOHN & FISHEL will receive soon. Those who will not wait would profit by buying from the stock KOHN & FISHEL have on hand, which they are selling AT COST to make room for their spring stock.

Buchtel's Photograph Gallery is the only establishment in Oregon that is thoroughly prepared to do all the different styles of work in the art. Photographs from card to life size. The new cabinet cards, &c. Small pictures enlarged (retouched in India ink—painted in water-colors or oil) by Mrs. E. J. Rumsey. Pictures that are fading can be reproduced in this way. All negatives taken in this gallery will be carefully preserved, and additional copies had. I have now on hand a very large collection of negatives, the names of which are recorded alphabetically in a book for that purpose that can be seen in the reception room.

NEW YORK BOOT AND SHOE STORE!

To the Public.

OWING TO THE VARIOUS STATEMENTS circulated by some of the Trade that the Goods now on exhibition in my Show Case are imported, I repeatfully announce to the public that all work I every pair were MANUFACTURED ON MY PREMISES, and by public patronage I am prepared to produce every style of BOOTS and SHOES, thus proving by the various styles the excellence of my home manufacture. One inducement is the lack of Double Profits, whereby the public would avail themselves of. The want of a First Class Manufactory has long been felt in this city, and to attain this I have combined such talent as will be able to meet the public superior goods to those heretofore forwarded by the various agencies of our Portland houses.

ADVENTURE IN INDIANS.—There is at present in this city a young boy named George H[illegible], who has spent the most of his life [illegible] among the Sioux Indians. He left the Dalles [illegible] crossing the plains from Illinois [illegible] and while [illegible] the Humboldt river, the [illegible] was suddenly [illegible] the party [illegible] Indians held [illegible] him. He has a distinct recollection of the circumstances of his capture, and [illegible] that the Indians used him [illegible] kept him for about two years [illegible] as he [illegible] the nature of an Indian [illegible] they [illegible] for two horses and removed with that tribe [illegible] he remembers [illegible] by them [illegible] the Sioux [illegible] before Christmas, in 1864. During that time he [illegible] Hill Arkansas [illegible] manner [illegible] never had an opportunity to [illegible] mentioned. He [illegible] of horses, he concluded to make the attempt [illegible] and accordingly started toward Julesburg [illegible] whole day and night at the utmost possible speed. His horse finally [illegible] exhausted and died, when he took his way on foot. During the trip he had nothing except the carcass of an ox which he found dead, and [illegible] which he contrived to kill. During the nights he was compelled to build fires to keep away the gray wolves which flocked about him around, snarling and barking and impatient for their prey. He describes these nights as most horrible, doubly so because the fires built to keep away the wolves increased the danger of his recapture by the Indians whom he supposed to be in pursuit. When within about fifty miles of Julesburg, he encountered a soldier who took him in custody supposing him to be an Indian boy or girl, either lost or sent as a spy. Being taken to Omaha, a soldier was found who could talk the Sioux language, to whom George related his history. Col. King then sent him to St. Louis, where the facts of his captivity and escape were published in the newspapers, with a view to the discovery of his relatives. An uncle residing in Illinois read the advertisements, went to St. Louis and took the boy home with him, and informed his father of [illegible]. Before, however, his father had been heard from, George got sick and became dissatisfied, and running away went to Ft. Laramie and there enlisted in the 2d U. S. Cavalry. Through Senator Corbett's influence he was soon after discharged from the service with a view to his return to his parents. However, instead of returning home he ran away again early in 1867, and went and joined the Sioux under the chieftaincy of "Spotted Tail." He stayed with that band three months when he split off from the band with sixteen lodges and two hundred Indians, by whom he was chosen as their chief. The Indians called him "Little Jim," or in their own dialect "Wasaeche." He pursued hunting and trapping with his tribe until the beginning of winter, when he started with his buffalo robes and furs, to what is now Mt. McPherson. On the way he froze his hands and feet badly, and in consequence of this concluded to give up his wild and roving life. He accordingly made his way to [illegible], who persuaded him to come to his parents in Oregon. He arrived here, a passenger by the steamer Ajax, and is now awaiting the opening of the Columbia river, to go to the Dalles. George is quite an intelligent, bright boy, speaks his native tongue but brokenly, and has evidently been long enough with the Indians to acquire their restless and adventurous spirit. Whether his return to the whites is to be permanent, is a little problematical, though time and home associations may eventually lead him back to his own proper nature. Much of his personal experiences and adventures, we have omitted for want of room.

GRAND LODGE OF ODD FELLOWS.—Mr. Cris Taylor has presented us with a copy of the proceedings of the Annual Communication of the Grand Lodge of the United States, I. O. O. F., held at New York City, Sept. 16th 1867. Mr. Taylor represented the Grand Lodge of Oregon. Upon the opening of the Communication, there were present, representatives from 27 Grand Lodges and 13 Grand Encampments. There were four Past Grand Sires present. Ten accredited representatives from Grand Lodges and twelve from Grand Encampments were absent at the opening. During the year previous, as shown by the annual report of the R. W. Grand Sire, one Grand Lodge, one Grand Encampment, five subordinate encampments and nine subordinate lodges were instituted by dispensation from the R. W. Grand Sire. The annual report of the R. W. Grand Secretary shows the number of Grand Lodges which reported to the R. W. Grand Lodge for the year ending June 30, 1867, were 41 in number, with 2,860 subordinate lodges in which 35,071 initiations had taken place during the year. The total membership of the lodges reported, amounted to 214,581. The encampment members reported numbered 34,841. The following is a list of the officers of the R. W. Grand Lodge for the year 1868:

R. W. Grand Sire, James P. Sanders, Yonkers New York.
R. W. D. Grand Sire, E. D. Farnsworth, Nashville, Tenn.
R. W. G. C. and R. Sec'y, Jas. L. Ridgely, Baltimore, Maryland.
R. W. Grand Treasurer, Joshua Vansant, Baltimore, Maryland.
R. W. G. Chaplain, Rev. I. D. Williamson, Delhi, O.
R. W. Grand Marshal, John S. Heiss, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.
R. W. Grand Guardian, John P. Foss, Chicago, Ill.
R. W. Grand Messenger, J. E. Chamberlain, Baltimore, Maryland.

OREGON MINING INTERESTS.—The San Francisco Commercial Herald of Jan. 11, has a general review of the mining operations and gold and silver yield of the Pacific coast States and Territories, for the year 1867, from which we copy the following concerning Oregon and Washington Territory. "Oregon makes about the same exhibit of metallic production for the past as for the two or three preceding years. The earnings of those engaged in placer mining, mostly carried on upon the confluents of John Day's river and in the southwestern part of the State, appear to have ranged from four to six dollars per day—about the usual standard for several years past. There is some quartz mining carried on with success in the vicinity of Jacksonville, where there are many lodes of good promise, but the attempts made not long since at prosecuting this business in the Santiam country fifty miles southeast of Salem, have been abandoned, after considerable sums spent in erecting a mill and in other preliminary labors. The total yield of bullion for this State the past year is estimated at about $1,000,000.

Washington Territory.—If we credit this Territory with a bullion product of one million dollars for the past year it may be considered a fair, if not a liberal allowance. The gold from that section is mostly collected from about Fort Colville, on the upper Columbia, in the Kootenai country, and other places in the vicinity. The diggings are shallow and easily worked, but the length and rigor of the winters prevent labor in the mines for more than six or seven months in each year. The population consists of about six hundred Chinamen and about half that number of whites. Placers and quartz veins have been found in the Cascade mountains and elsewhere in this Territory, but they have not proved sufficiently rich to tempt extensive working."

BASE BALL CONVENTION.—The State Convention of Base Ball Players, called by the Pioneer Club of this city, met yesterday. The following delegates were reported by the Committee on Credentials entitled to seats: Messrs. Jos. Buchtel and Ed. Quackenbush, of the Pioneers, Portland; C. P. Ferry and J. C. Work, of the Spartans, Portland; D. P. Thompson and B. Killen, of the Clackamas Club, Oregon City; Jno. M. Bacon and Charles Warren, of the Highland Club, Oregon City, and Capt. Babbitt and D. Leahy, of Washingtons, Vancouver. An organization of a State Association was effected by the adoption of a Constitution and By Laws, providing generally for the government of all the clubs now or hereafter belonging to the Association. The name of the association is, "The Oregon and Washington and Idaho Territories Association of Base Ball Players." Joseph Buchtel, of the Pioneer Club, was elected President, D. P. Thompson, of the Clackamas Club, Vice President; J. M. Bacon, of the Highland Club, Recording Secretary; C. P. Ferry, of the Spartan Club, Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer, J. C. Work, of the Spartan Club, Judge Advocate. The next regular meeting will be held at Portland. The constitution provides that all clubs in good repute in Oregon, Washington and Idaho may join the Association, and an invitation, by resolution, was extended to them, to do so. The Oregonian and Herald were designated as the mediums through which the Association will publish the decisions of the Judiciary Committee. The Constitution and By Laws are to be published in pamphlet form, and will be distributed to all the clubs of the State and Territories. After a vote of thanks to Mr. S. B. Parrish, of the Pioneers, for the use of his rooms, refreshments, etc., the Association adjourned.

CIRCUIT COURT—HON. E. D. SHATTUCK.—The following are the proceedings of yesterday in the Circuit Court:

State vs. Mary Phillips, defendant indicted for selling spirituous liquors to an Indian. Arraigned, and R. E. Bybee appointed to defend.

State vs. Ah Chim, Ah Sing and Ah Kow, indicted for larceny. Caples and McCoy appointed counsel for defendants.

Flora B. Riley vs. Jas. Riley, R. E. Bybee appointed referee to take proofs.

State vs. Wm. [illegible], John Holt and John Brooksbank, defendants appearing, J. H. Stinson attorney, plead not guilty with leave, and defendants plead guilty of petit larceny, and were each sentenced to imprisonment in the county jail for four months.

State vs. Wong Chi, indicted for keeping a bawdy house, R. E. Bybee and Charles Parrish appointed counsel for defendants.

State vs. De Cumb and Dong Chi, indicted for keeping a bawdy house, arraigned and allowed until to-morrow to plead.

State vs. Joseph Taylor, verdict of jury, defendant guilty as charged in the indictment and property stolen valued at $30 gold coin. Motion to increase the amount of bail by District Attorney, defendant gave notice of a motion for a new trial. The motion to increase amount of bail was sustained and it was ordered that the defendant give bail in the sum of $3,000, in default of which to be committed to jail.

EXPORTS OF OREGON WOOL.—In the year 1867 Oregon exported to San Francisco and [illegible] 2,700 bales of wool, or about 602,000 pounds. It may be interesting to know how this compares with the shipments of former years. The San Francisco Commercial Herald, of a late date, credits us, according to the following table:

Oregon	Bales	Pounds.	Increase. Pounds Pct	Decrease. Pounds pct
1862	2,051	410,200
1863	1,714	342,800		77,400—19
1864	2,151	430,200	87,400—25
1865	3,955	791,000	361,000—84
1866	3,702	758,400		38,400—5

The year 1867 shows a falling off of 91,200 pounds from the shipments of the previous year, attributable to the increased amount used in our home manufactures. While on this subject we may as well quote [illegible] warning from the Herald. [illegible] very largely to [illegible] they [illegible] by keeping [illegible]

THE OLYMPIC THEATER.—The nightly performances at the Olympic Theater [illegible] a decided improvement on anything of the kind [illegible] in this city. The best evidences of [illegible] a full audience every night. This evening an entire change of programme and a good bill.

NEW FIRM AND NEW STORE.—Messrs. O. H. Clarke, M. W. Henderson and [illegible] have recently entered in the partnership under the firm name of Clarke, Henderson & Co., and are now engaged in fitting up the large brick store lately occupied by Schonfeld & Co., corner of Washington and [illegible] to be opened as a first class Dry Goods and Furnishing Store. Mr. Clarke goes to San Francisco [illegible] to purchase goods. They intend to start with and keep up one of the largest stocks of the kind in the city. The new firm will be popular, and no doubt successful, as all of the members have had experience, and a guarantee with the wants of the market.

CIRCUIT COURT—Judge Shattuck.—Proceedings of the [illegible] A. M. Starr et al. [illegible]

Order that complainants herein set the cause for hearing [illegible] answer, or file general [illegible]

[illegible] complainant has until the 1st [illegible] Agents to file [illegible]

Chas. B. Lambert vs. [illegible] Davenport, et al., in equity. Demurrer to [illegible] overruled at costs of defendant, and defendant has until the 1st Monday in April next to file answer.

Adjourned until to-day.

A HEAVY FALL.—The Democratic (?) says: "It has been found that the wooden bridge across a deep ravine on that part of the Union Pacific line now being built [illegible] the Courier omitted to state whether [illegible] the wit [illegible] the deep ravine." A few particulars of that sort, it seems, would have made that little [illegible] more interesting. But why throw the bridge across the ravine any way.

MERCHANT TAILORING.—Harman Bros. inform us that they intend shortly to start a large Merchant Tailoring Establishment in connection with their mammoth clothing store. Mr. Isaac Harman will go below on the Ajax and upon his return will inaugurate the new enterprise on a large scale under the supervision of one of the best cutters from New York city. Mr. Harman will also purchase a large stock of clothing and furnishing goods for the spring trade.

THE WASHINGTON GUARDS BALL.—The fifth annual ball of the Washington Guard, in celebration of Washington's birth day, took place last evening at Oro Fino Hall, and was altogether a decidedly fine affair. The hall was very tastefully and appropriately decorated with festoons, shields and armor of the Company. The arrangements made by the Committee were so complete as to render everything pleasant to the guests, and all seemed to enjoy an unusually happy evening.

PRODUCE.—The following produce arrived per steamer yesterday: Per Senator, from Oregon City, 2,182 qr sks flour, 223 boxes apples, 113 hlf bbls dried apples, 10 boxes eggs, 15 cases pork, 20 gunnies bacon, 19 pkgs stoneware, 4 cases hams, 100 sks feed, 7 cases lard. Per Alert, from Oregon City, 1,138 qr sks flour, 371 bags wheat, 20 sks feed, 6 bdles, 2 cases bacon.

PORTLAND LIBRARY.—The following new books have just been added to the Portland Library: The Guardian Angel, by O. W. Holmes; St. Fingal an Epic Poem, by Lossing; The [illegible], by Harte; Elsa, or Spain fifty Years Ago, by Caballero; Love Letters by Allan Grant; Three English Statesmen, by Smith; Opportunity, by Author of Emily Chester.

THE ACADEMY.—The Portland Academy is enjoying this new term a greater prosperity than ever. Over one hundred and seventy pupils have already been enrolled and accessions to the number are of every day occurrence.

GOOD TEMPLARS FAIR.—It is said a fair will be held in this city about the 1st of May, in aid of the Good Templars' Library Association. Preparations are already in progress by ladies connected with the Order.

QUARTERLY MEETING.—The M. E. Quarterly meeting for Oregon City will be held to-day and to-morrow, under the charge of Rev. J. F. DeVore, Presiding Elder of the District.

GYMNASIUM.—The Gymnasium will be open this evening at the usual hour. All parties interested are requested to be present and participate in the exercises.

FLOUR FOR VICTORIA.—The schooner Crosby is taking in a cargo of flour and feed from Vaughn's Mill, for the Victoria market. She will sail in a day or two.

CHANGE OF EVENING.—Portland Lodge of Good Templars has changed its time of meeting each week, from Thursday to Monday evening.

DAILY PRAYER MEETINGS.—The Union daily prayer meetings have been resumed and are held at noon at the Baptist church.

RECEIVED BY THE STEAMER AJAX.—A large assortment of those knobby business suits, which we are selling at fabulously low prices. W. CRANCER & Co., 103 Front street.

DR. C. W. COOL,
DENTIST.

THOSE WHO DESIRE FIRST CLASS DENTAL SERVICES might do well to give him a call. He is making a NEW AND IMPROVED VULCANITE PLATE. The nature of his improvement consists in lining the entire concave surface with fine gold; it makes the plate twice as strong and one third times thinner than the common vulcanite plate. It also prevents the acids of the mouth from roughing the plate, and from turning it black, which is a common occurrence. One half of the common vulcanite plates turn black after being in use a short time, particularly where tobacco is used for smoking. His new style of plate admits of a very fine finish on the concave or palate surface. His office is the only place where such work can be had. The improvement is his own invention, for which he has received December 31 1867, a patent from the United States Patent Office. He has been making this style of work for the last two and a half years, and has specimens of the work which can be seen at his office. This work has given satisfaction in every case.

ANNUAL INCOME OVER	6,000,000 00
CASH DIVIDEND (Feb 1, 1867)	2,124,000 15

THE MUTUAL DOES A CASH BUSINESS ONLY AND HAS NO NOTES!

What a Note Company says:

"We recommend the CASH plan as the best mode of Insurance. None will deny this after a few years' experience of the different plans."—The Charter Oak Life Insurance (a Note Company).

EXPERIENCE has taught business men that CREDITS must be paid for.

IN CASH COMPANIES, the first payment is the largest, every successive year reduces the premium or increases the policy at the option of the insured. Past records of the Mutual prove that in 14 years their payments cease, but DIVIDENDS continue for life.

IN NOTE COMPANIES—the first payment is the smallest. Interest on Notes swallow Dividends and increase the future payments.

OBSERVE. Notes must be paid for by higher rates and in case of insurance.

DIVIDENDS. The Mutual declares Dividends the first and every successive year from the date of a policy holders insurance. N. B.—The public should ascertain from other insurance Companies if Dividends are declared annually from the start or annually 4 YEARS AFTER insurance.

RATES in The Mutual are Lower than in any other Company doing business on the Pacific Coast—and are considerably lower than in any Note Company.

EVERY ADVANTAGE is offered by The Mutual—(excepting notes) that other Insurance Companies can offer.

DIOSMA CRENATA - - - - - - BUCHU LEAVES.

Properties.—Their odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic, their taste bitterish and analogous to mint.

Medical Properties and Uses.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendency to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Disease of the Prostrate and Retention or Incontinence of Urine from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections and Dropsy.

Helmbold's Extract Buchu is used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, or in the decline or change of life; after Confinement or Labor Pains; Bed wetting in children.

In Affections Peculiar to Females, the Extract Buchu is unequalled by any other remedy, as in CHLOROSIS OR RETENTION, IRREGULARITY, PAINFULNESS OR SUPPRESSION OF CUSTOMARY EVACUATIONS, ULCERATED OR SCHIRROUS STATE OF THE UTERUS, LEUCORRHOEA OR WHITES.

Diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, Gravel and Dropsical Swellings.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions, and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

Helmbold's Extract Buchu has cured every case of DIABETES in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick Dust Deposit, and Mucous or Milky Discharges and for Enfeebled or Delicate Constitutions, of both Sexes, attended with the following symptoms:—Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, &c.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU

Is Diuretic and Blood Purifying, and Cures all Diseases Caused by Habits of Dissipation, Excesses and Imprudences in Life, Impurities of the Blood, &c., superceding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleets of Long standing, and Syphilitic Affections—in these diseases, used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS should be in the possession of everybody in the mining region. As a preventive of various dangerous diseases to which the gold seeker is liable, it has no superior. Whilst it is quite palatable even as a beverage, it is speedy and powerful in its effects upon the system. In all cases of diarrhea, dysentery and the prevailing fevers consequent upon exposure, the Bitters will be found invaluable as a corrective. No man should enter upon the exposed camp life of a miner without being provided with Hostetter's preventive of stomach disease, nor should any of those who are now engaged in the occupation, fail to have recourse to the Bitters.—Sold by all druggists and dealers everywhere.

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER.

THE UNIVERSAL REMEDY FOR INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL COMPLAINTS.

At this period there are but few of the human race unacquainted with the merits of the Pain Killer, but while some extol it as a liniment, they know but little of its power in easing pain when taken internally, while others use it internally with great success, but are equally ignorant of its healing virtues when applied externally. We therefore wish to say to all that it is equally successful whether used internally or externally, and it stands alone unrivalled by all the great catalogue of Family Medicines, and its sale is universal and immense. The demand for it from India and other foreign countries is equal to the demand at home, and it has become known in these far off places by its merits.

Change in Business!

WIBERG & STROWBRIDGE having disposed of their entire retail stock of Boots and Shoes, and will hereafter devote their whole attention to the WHOLESALE BOOT & SHOE BUSINESS. We have on hand 200 cases of Boots and Shoes which we offer very low in order to make room for our spring stock direct from the East, which will arrive about the middle of March. Our arrangements for direct importations are now complete, one of our firm having located his residence near Boston for the express purpose of buying and forwarding goods for our house in Portland. We will keep none but first class goods and we think we can do as well by dealers, as if they purchased their goods in San Francisco.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS!
A Pure and Powerful Tonic,
Corrective and Alterative, of wonderful efficacy in Diseases of the
STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.

PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.

Prevents Fever and Ague and Billious Remittent Fevers; Fortifies the System against Miasma and the evil effects of unwholesome water, invigorates the organs of digestion and the bowels,

Steadies the Nerves and tends to Prolong Life.

REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Nervous Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness, whether inherent in the system or PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES.

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL, and restorative in its nature, enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind; no deadly botanical element; no fiery excitant, but is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants, with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated, and the appetite restored by this Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia, and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs.

Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits, and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is conclusive, and from both sexes.

As a Genuine Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay, and Debility and Decrepitude arising from old age, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.

Last, but not least, it is the only safe stimulant, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

WEEKLY REVIEW

PORTLAND FRIDAY Feb 21 1868

We are without our usual money and [illegible] telegrams since the 17th [illegible] at latest [illegible] New York was quoted at 141½. At San Francisco legal tenders were [illegible] @ 1½.

The Liverpool wheat market [illegible] New York prices for wheat [illegible] last report —wheat [illegible] At San Francisco the market [illegible] restricted to local wants prices [illegible]

Advices from San Francisco represent the market as quite unsettled. Since the first of January trade has been restricted in consequence of the late floods and storms throughout the interior and the closing of communication with Oregon that no definite [illegible] could be maintained. An immediate improvement is however confidently expected when [illegible] will again be reduced to their natural ranges.

In our local jobbing trade we have yet [illegible] changes to note, except [illegible] grocer[illegible] dull consequent upon a glutted market [illegible] higher rates of freight by the steamers [illegible] if continued will prove very detrimental to the producer's interests. While the present [illegible] prevail, there is little possibility of shipping [illegible] those who are not forced to realize [illegible] on, thus keeping a vast amount of produce which ought to be converted into [illegible] houses. There is no shipping demand for any sort of produce if we except [illegible] of which a moderate supply is wanted for the San Francisco market.

We give to-day a revised list of [illegible] in which at present greater activity prevails than in any other line of trade. Candles —materially lower, the market below being overstocked. Coffee—leading varieties a little weaker. Rice—in full supply and lower. Oils—best brands burning, from 2½ to 5c decline; other [illegible] reduced in proportion. Sugars—Sandwich Islands ½@¾c lower. Syrups—a decided advance. [illegible] 7½c to 10c per gallon, San Francisco Refineries in kegs an average of 5c per gallon. Soap—Castile, 3c cheaper. [illegible] Carmen Island from $2 50 to $3 1 wer wide range in quotations of different dealers and prices unsettled. Ground Rock $2 50 lower. Business generally pretty fair, [illegible] ring the season of the year. Notwithstanding that since the first week of January the Columbia has been closed with ice and during the greater part of last month, the navigation of the Willamette was also impracticable, the aggregates of sales compare quite favorably with those of the corresponding period of last year. One [illegible] house (though only nominally open for business for, say, twenty five days since January 1st) finds that its [illegible] of sales foot up $1 500 larger than for the fifty one corresponding days of 1867—and this though not a pound has been sold elsewhere than to the Willamette valley, while last year the Columbia was open all the time. Other houses have had a similar increase of trade over last year. A brisk business year is anticipated.

The Hardware trade is looking up a little. Prices are firm at quotations, and during the past week the sales were larger than during any week since the setting in of winter. The next steamer will bring an extensive addition to the stocks on hand supplying many articles, now [illegible]

[illegible] from San Francisco report a rapid advance in cotton goods consequent upon a rise in New York. We offer no changes in quotations for the reason that the market is unsettled. Our quotations show the [illegible] prices for the present, though material alterations may occur before our next report.

From time to time, we have called the attention of our people to the importance of establishing a direct line of [illegible] between the Columbia river and the great marts of [illegible], as the only means of rendering ourselves independent of the [illegible] tribute now exacted of us by San Francisco. On this subject the subjoined letter from [illegible] of New York City, and [illegible] some suggestions worthy of serious heed.

Probably there is nothing that serves to develop a country, or any [illegible], like the commerce of the seas; and it is a natural [illegible] that no country or State can [illegible] so vital an interest without being most seriously [illegible] in its growth and development. To say nothing of the other Eastern marts, New York may be considered the [illegible] commercial centre of our country, and it is an [illegible] every seaport should open and maintain a direct line of ship communication for its life and [illegible] as that the extremities of the human body [illegible] their arterial life direct from the heart. Oregon and the Northwest have it as far preferred to have this grand artery tapped at an intermediate post and [illegible] of the best life's blood extracted to nourish a sister; I will not say a rival State, and in consequence have been [illegible] in their growth, frustrated in their commercial [illegible] for no country or State can long avoid bankruptcy when the value of its imports exceeds that of its exports. This is a trite [illegible] in political economy and is only equalled in simplicity by those who refuse to heed it.

Oregon is not quoted in the great Emporium of trade, and when mention is made of her the inquiry is started— "Is Oregon a State? Is she not a portion of California?" &c., &c. Oregon's self respect and love of independence [illegible] a change, and her imports and exports want it. By a fair calculation she pays an annual tribute to San Francisco adequate to defray the expenses of her State Government, that ought and might be saved by [illegible] and direct shipment. Her agricultural interests most [illegible] demand it, for they at present [illegible] as we clearly see from the fact that times are easy or hard nearly in accordance with the price of wheat alone. Other branches of industry are [illegible] but at present the honest yeomanry of Oregon are [illegible] its sole stay and they should have every [illegible] By direct shipment the Oregon farmer [illegible] San Francisco price for his products; and he could also obtain his goods at a comparative lower rate in consequence. He would not [illegible] to California in order to obtain a living price for his [illegible]. If this [illegible] change could be effected, (and it would seem that had Oregon merchants and [illegible] an interest above present gains—an interest in the growth and development of their State) they would give all the encouragement possible to a direct line to the [illegible]. If our wholesale houses expect to build up a commercial emporium in the State that the [illegible] of the interior will not go by for San Francisco, without direct shipment, we shall witness their defeat, or there is no instruction in all past history.

But there are grounds taken against this important enterprise. We will consider these a moment and see if they are [illegible]

They say, resolving to be our insurers we can put but a [illegible] on any vessel. It is also urged that goods can be obtained in reasonable time, and that direct shipment is not so safe and might add "San Francisco delivery [illegible]" Let us examine these objections in the light of facts and good common sense. It is calculated that over forty thousand tons of merchandise have entered the Columbia in one year. If this estimate [illegible] four thousand tons and give two-thirds to the Isthmus route, of light merchandise, if preferred, and then [illegible] thousand tons burthen every month to come, the balance via Cape Horn so that goods could certainly be had in reasonable time and as to safety, it is certain they have to come by sea from San Francisco the other way, or anyway inside or out, and it is our impression that this proposition would be a stronger [illegible] than any other that was ever argued for a [illegible] appropriation. We have not character and [illegible] under the present state of things to [illegible] and the most common safeguards. The reshipment at San Francisco not unfrequently causes great delay, and of course much expense. On hard lumber and some kinds of heavy machinery the expense of reshipment is almost equal to the freight from New York. The position that our merchants wish to become "their own [illegible]" nearly meet; but supposing they would effect an insurance at even 3 per cent (though it might be done at 2½), when the charges of the [illegible] for reshipment, stevedore, work drayage wharfage and [illegible] are considered and consequent damage and [illegible], with the extra freight by steamer or sailing [illegible], who does not see that there would then be a handsome per cent saved by direct shipment? and as to the insurance, much of it comes back in premiums etc. It may be said that good vessels will not be put on. We have conversed with shippers in New York and Boston, and we know that as good vessels as ever run to San Francisco can and will be put on the Oregon line if they can be supported and [illegible] arranged. But the last objection to the enterprise is considered most unanswerable. Where is the return freight? We would Yankee-like, answer this by asking another. What are we coming to if we import more in gross and domestic even all [illegible] ware, than we can export in wheat flour wool hides salmon etc [illegible] which we are told will bear shipment and [illegible] our hard lumber imports which [illegible] for shipment. But who can tell the impetus that will be given to agriculture and every branch of industry and the rapid development of all our natural resources which have but just begun to tempt the capitalists? [illegible] vessels can return in another way than via [illegible] Lumber freight and Chinese passengers [illegible] may be [illegible] and also we could [illegible] of coal from New York will strengthen the [illegible], and that with a profit as we know from the fact that we have effected a coaling agency for that purpose.

But how is this direct shipment to be brought about? Where are the capitalists and shippers that are anxious to engage in the important enterprise? We answer they are ready, with the capital reputation and the vessels are ready to trim sail for the great western ocean. But they are not the parties to start and insure the line with tonnage.

They are like the laborer who stands ready to enter the field if employed and encouraged, and they have even gone so far as to consider the propriety of [illegible] a partial freight to fill up in their [illegible]. But accepting the conclusion that our merchants [illegible] what the market demands [illegible] would so much overstock [illegible] and consequently go at a sacrifice, which we understand has been once even too satisfactorily proved, and has more than this, even served to defeat a more rational effort.

No. The merchants capitalists and business men of Oregon must combine and agree in the organization of a Chamber of Commerce or otherwise to promote this important object, and then it would be effected [illegible] prove an immediate and most noble success and of more advantage to Oregon than any railroad now had in contemplation can ever be. Indeed it would demand and make it more reasonable, that a road should be built [illegible] its trade in another direction from the one now in [illegible] contemplation, and to do more to build up our principal ports and towns than [illegible] could ever be reasonably hoped for and to give Oregon and our great Northwest an honorable independence which it has not now and never will [illegible] natural law of successful commerce [illegible] to. The great Pacific [illegible] away will the imports [illegible] the light freight that [illegible] main advantage it seems [illegible] portunity of a branch [illegible] great valley of the Columbia [illegible] destination [illegible] would not be [illegible] hasty article, I will simply [illegible] Northwest by stating that [illegible] work in our humble way for [illegible] proper development, true greatness and rational independence.

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET NEAR COMMERCIAL San Francisco Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases such as Gonorrhea Gleet Stricture Syphilis in all its forms Seminal Weakness Impotency etc Skin Diseases of years standing and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

Horrible Diseases

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering [illegible] from the effects of secret indulgence or from virus [illegible] Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces [illegible] broken down constitution [illegible] the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life [illegible] guardians [illegible] who are suffering with any of these [illegible] see that they are cured [illegible] Send them immediately to Doctor GIBBON a physician who has made private diseases a specialty for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends [illegible] the many pretended doctors [illegible] their skill in curing all diseases in a few days [illegible] upon the public by using the names of [illegible] Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans

Seminal Weakness

Seminal Emission [illegible] consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms unless combated by scientific medical measures viz Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes pain in the head ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins weakness of the limbs confused vision, blunted intellect loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society loss of memory hectic flushes pimples and various eruptions about the face furred tongue fetid breath coughs consumption night sweats monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and infallible mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr GIBBON stating case symptoms length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country with full and plain directions for use for Ten Dollars sent in registered letter or through Wells Fargo & Co

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn to certificates dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and their places are brokers and [illegible] too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths shoemakers newspaper carriers intelligence office keepers etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find the Medical Institutes but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way [illegible] take caution—it will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr Gibbon does not deceive people by calling [illegible] certificates pretended patients letters etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his [illegible] of his ability to treat diseases that he professes to cure

DR. J. C. YOUNG,

Medical and Surgic-l INSTITUTE.

 CONSULTATIONS IN ALL CASES FREE

 CURES GUARANTEED, OR NO PAY REQUIRED

 IN ALL CASES WHERE CONFIDENCE IS REQUIRED THE UTMOST SECRESY MAINTAINED

The above rules, established by Dr. J. C Young in 1850, and which have done so much to secure the reputation of this Institute, are still adhered to, affording those in need of medical aid, the certainty of cure and the utmost confidence.

There is nothing of so great importance to the sick as to know where to find a physician whose skill and humanity give assurance of proper and delicate treatment. The Doctor would respectfully call the attention of those of both sexes who are suffering or in [illegible] to the invariable success [illegible] has marked the career of this Institute in the seventeen years of its existence.

It is unnecessary in this connection to enumerate all the complaints treated at the Institute, but the Doctor feels it his duty to call especial attention to that terrible scourge, SEMINAL WEAKNESS, That is sapping with its insidiousness the very life of its victims; in the treatment cure of which the Institute has earned so enviable a reputation.

READ! READ!

I am aware that by dwelling upon so uninviting a subject as the decay of manly vigor through the [illegible] vital principle of life, the ignorant may aspersе [illegible] live but the desire to point out to those who [illegible] the true cause of their [illegible] great an incentive to be forced into abeyance. [illegible] the terrible disease of Seminal W[illegible] none but the practical specialist who devotes his time [illegible] treatment can tell but its presence can be [illegible] the most inexperienced by noting the following symptoms. Weakness of the back and limbs [illegible] feelings, loss of muscular power nervous [illegible] cold feet or hands accompanied by hot head; [illegible] of consumption short breath, flushings of the [illegible] sion to society confusion of the mind, loss of memory nightly emissions; colorless; slight [illegible] least excitement trembling palpitation of the [illegible] regular appetite variable temper etc.

YOUNG MAN if you experience any of the symptoms enumerated above, pause to consider [illegible] present is the golden moment in which you may [illegible] health and happiness. You may feel at [illegible] you have ever practiced the vice of self-abuse even the SLIGHTEST DEGREE, you have the seeds of weakness [illegible] system and their undermining influence will, [illegible] or later dash the fair edifice of your [illegible] ground leaving you a helpless abject being [illegible] disease that declares itself at once. Then [illegible] est danger; for while the patient is being tr[illegible] affection of the Heart Lungs, Brain or Di[illegible] tions he sinks into a general debility that soon adds to the list of the victims of the terrible disorder, Seminal Weakness

See in the bent form and languishing steps, the victim of the fascinating vice. Mark the [illegible] destructive complaint in the hollow cheek and dull [illegible]

Drowsiness is one of the premonitory symptoms; first it is easily shaken off but it grows ev[illegible] great disinclination to pursue his regular [illegible] mind becomes apprehensive and restless [illegible] days of depression

It is the nature of the complaint to [illegible] changes that leave the poor victim but little hope [illegible] covery. In a single instant it may wither your [illegible] hopes and blast your honest aspirations.

Marriage is sought by a natural impulse as a [illegible] lief. This is an error of the first magnitude, for [illegible] tem unprepared for the exigencies of the [illegible] denly fails and he finds himself in a deplorable [illegible] front which there is but the slightest hope of [illegible] Or if the marriage should result in offspring, they are [illegible] ny distorted decrepid and degenerate. This is [illegible] ble to both sexes whether married or [illegible] times of life

Do not delay if you feel any of the symptoms [illegible] rible complaint, or if your acts have been such as [illegible] them but by instant application secure to [illegible] only hope of health and happiness. The Doctor [illegible] mercury or other deleterious drugs cures, when [illegible] time always guaranteed, and full and [illegible] stored

The afflicted are assured of every conf[illegible]

PERSONS AFFLICTED WITH VENEREAL.

During the seventeen years since the [illegible] the Institute the number of cases of V[illegible] been treated show a record unsurpassed by any [illegible] in the world and the success that has invariably [illegible] the course of treatment

Without Mercury or other Dele[illegible] Drugs,

Shows conclusively the use of them to be not [illegible] called for but actually dangerous for it is a [illegible] established medical principle that those poisons [illegible] by entering the blood ruin the constitution and [illegible] life

The Doctor effects a cure in recent cases, in a [illegible] and finds no difficulty in curing those of long [illegible] without submitting the patient to such treatment [illegible] draw upon him the slightest suspicion or oblige [illegible] neglect his business whether in-doors or [illegible] diet need not be changed. Cures always [illegible] no pay required

IMPORTANT TO FE[illegible]AL[illegible]

When a female is in trouble or afflicted with [illegible] requires medical or surgical assistance the [illegible] be. Where is there a physician competent to [illegible] relief and whose respectable standing in society will [illegible] commend him to the confidence of the community [illegible] Doctor understanding how imperatively [illegible] requirement is are feels called upon to [illegible] calling the attention of the afflicted to the fact [illegible] been a Professor of Obstetrics and Female D[illegible] ly years and is fully qualified to administer [illegible] is thoroughly and surgically not in a superf[illegible] but [illegible] years of study and [illegible] both in hospitals and private families [illegible] them [illegible] the [illegible] qualified [illegible] desiring [illegible] The [illegible] families can rely upon him [illegible] a father. All in affliction can find in him one [illegible] and sympathize with and befriend them in [illegible] whose secrecy the utmost confidence can be [illegible] consultation by letter or otherwise free. Cures [illegible] teed in all weakness and troubles incidental to [illegible] Private apartments are provided when desired, [illegible] be had all the advantages of an enlisted [illegible] Doctor and the most skillful and and faithful

To CORRESPONDENTS —Persons either male or residing in the interior are often deterred from [illegible] the Doctor because they cannot spare the time, but [illegible] the expense of a visit to the city. To such he [illegible] that a plain statement of the symptoms and [illegible] bearing upon the complaint will enable him to [illegible] for them so that they can be cured at home. [illegible] have any false delicacy about writing, no matter what [illegible] nature of their complaint as the communication will be seen by no one except the Doctor and will be [illegible] the [illegible] confidence and either be returned or [illegible]
